Main/Seg hallways were stripped again for final waxing. The question came up, can we get better wax than the one we have now? besides MSDS, cost, and safety issues, is there any way to get a better brand? I asked around and I was told there are brands of wax where they give better shine more durable. This is a big facility and it is important to do it right from the start especially most of the big hallways are stripped and ready for wax.

Thank you all.

All,

After walking through West today, it is very evident sanitation has slipped backward several notches. We need all shifts to start putting detainees to work in the hallways, medical, intake, the "D-Spaces", and the hallways leading to the housing units, etc. I didn't get a chance to check visitation and the court areas. If we need to bring in a few extra part time officers for 4 hours per shift to accomplish supervising a couple of detainee work crews, then please do. If you need supplies or access to supplies, please let me or Mr. Fouts know. I don't want excuses, just action.

East has been looking very good lately.
